PREFACE

The Sarasvati Mahal Library was started as a Nayak Palace Library and then developed by the Maratha Kings of Tanjore. Rajah Serfoji II (1798-1832), the scholar Prince of Tanjore and a lover of books, collected and purchased books in European languages such as English, French, German etc. The Tanjore Resident and Collector Mr.Blackburn donated his English books to Serfoji's Library. So, these books are rare and were mostly published before 1832. A catalogue for the old English books of this Library was published with the information of the Author and Title in 1940. Considering the utmost importance and rarity of this collection, this catalogue is republished now in a descriptive manner with the details of the Author, Title, Publisher, Place and year of publication. I hope that this catalogue will be very useful to the scholars and historians for their researches and other studies.

I thank Mr.P.Perumal, Chemical Conservator of Sarasvati Mahal Library for resetting this catalogue in the present form. I also thank Mr.A.Panchanathan, Publication Manager-cum-Librarian, Thiru S.Krishnan, Administrative Officer and the staff of Messrs. Sarma Sanatorium Press, Pudukkottai for bringing out this catalogue within a short span of two weeks.

My thanks are also due to the Government of India for sanctioning grants to Publish the rare books of this library.
